5

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In a radiation image storage panel having a phosphor layer which is produced by gas phase deposition and composed of prismatic phosphors, the phosphor layer has a relative density higher or same on a lower side than or as on a upper side, and the prismatic phosphors have a diameter which is larger on a upper side than on a lower side.